Congênito is Brazilian pianist Ricardo Bacelar's fifth album and the first recording that he self-produced and performed himself. Widely known for his work in Jazz, Bacelar was originally a member of the renowned rock band Hanoi Hanoi from Rio de Janeiro. He has recorded internationally with numerous prominent musicians and founded Jasmin Studio, one of the preeminent recording studios in Latin America. Bacelar is proud of his new album that blends various genres and sonic textures. He states, "all tracks are acoustic without loops, and I played and recorded all of the instruments live without sequencers, programming, or drum machines."
