Ricardo Bacelar Interview | Maracanós (2026) with Airtó Moreira | Brazilian Jazz & World Music

Welcome to a new edition of the Neon Jazz Interview Series featuring acclaimed Brazilian jazz pianist, composer, producer, and multi-instrumentalist Ricardo Bacelar.

In this exclusive interview, Ricardo discusses his inspiring 2026 album, Maracanós, a remarkable collaboration with legendary Brazilian percussionist and composer Airtó Moreira. Bringing together two of Brazil's most celebrated musical voices, Maracanós blends the rich traditions of Brazilian music, jazz, Latin rhythms, and contemporary improvisation into a vibrant and unforgettable listening experience.

Ricardo's musical journey began at an early age, shaped by influences ranging from classical music and jazz to the diverse sounds of Brazil. At just 17 years old, he joined the iconic Brazilian pop-rock band Hanoi Hanoi, launching a career that has since expanded into internationally acclaimed solo recordings, producing, composing, and cross-cultural collaborations.

Whether you're a fan of Brazilian music, Latin jazz, world music, contemporary jazz, or exceptional musicianship, this interview offers fascinating insights into one of Brazil's leading musical artists.
